MISSOURIAN WOULD CHANGE THE CAPITAL

Wants to put Washington in the Ozark Mountains.

NO MORE FREE GARDEN SEEDS—
GOOD NEWS FOR TOBACCO MEN.

Washington, March 6.—The removal of the capital of the United States to the Ozark Mountains in southwestern Missouri is the startling proposal made in a memorial introduced in the House of Representatives this week by Mr. S. S. McClure. The communication comes from the editor of a small Missouri paper located at a microscopically undiscernible point, and instructs the Representatives in Congress to "show me" state to introduce bills for the transference of the seat of government as proposed, "for sanitary, economic and other reasons." The Honorable Mr. Elliott, who is responsible for the petition, urges the change especially for sanitary reasons, suggesting that "a great deal of the inefficiency and crookedness at Washington is due to the malarial conditions of the atmosphere." Furthermore he does not like to have the capital located on one edge of the country, open to the attack of what he calls "the unfriendly powers of the old world," adding that if it were located in the Ozarks such an attack and the consequent destruction would be impossible. Germany might bombard Washington with her warships, but never a city buried in the mountains of Missouri. Congressmen have been quick to appreciate Mr. Elliott's eloquence and sympathetic for their health and bodily safety, but at the same time they seem to prefer the depressing conditions and dangers of Washington to the attractions of Missouri. The petition has been buried in a convenient cubby hole of the District Committee, and it seems safe to assume that the government will continue to do business at the old stand for a few more years, at least.

The railroad rate question is fast outstripping all others in the Senate, and, if indications go for anything, will produce one of the liveliest debates of the year. Already Senators Foraker and Holliver have made their opening speeches, even though the Hepburn bill will not come up for actual consideration until after March 9. The speech of Senator Foraker was a notable effort, which has created a profound impression. He criticized the Hepburn bill chiefly on the three points as follows:

"It authorizes the Commission to compel discharging railroads that have nothing in common except a physical connection, to operate jointly as through routes on such rates and terms as it may impose."

"It dispenses with jury trials in an important class of actions to recover money by providing a procedure that makes such trials impossible."

"It imposes such extreme, unreasonable and burdensome penalties as probably to invalidate the measure in that respect. It does not provide for a proper review by the courts of the orders of the commission, but seeks to exclude the same."

Senator Dilliver's speech in defense of the bill, although it was received with evident sympathy on account of his treatment at the hands of the committee, was hardly in the same class with Mr. Foraker's. Mr. Dilliver announced himself as opposed to any amendment of the measure, and there said Mr. Foraker complimented by stating that the Ohioan had produced a workable and satisfactory plan for those who believe in court review, and rather than vote for an amended edition of the Hepburn bill, he would give his approval to Senator Foraker's measure. Indeed, it is hard to tell just how far this question of court review will complicate the already surprising situation.

It is certain, however, that those who believe that the law should be administered by the courts will make a strong stand for an amendment to this end.

NOT AFRAID OF GHOSTS IS HE.

Circuit Judge Gordon Willing to Save County Expense by Hanging in Court House.

Denies Giving Order, Though, and Dis-claims Jurisdiction.

SHERIFF PREPARING TO BUILD ENCLOS-URE AND SCAFFOLD NEAR JAIL.

Many Madisonville People Opposed to Thompson Being Hung at all.

Who's afraid of GHOSTS?
Not Judge J. F. Gordon, who sits on the bench in the Hopkins Circuit Court. He was willing, so far as he was concerned, that the hanging of Garth Thompson, colored, convicted of the murder of William Brame at Madisonville Dec. 24, 1903, should take place right over his desk in the circuit court room, if necessary to save the county expense and at the same time to come within the requirements of the law requiring absolute privacy at hangings.

The matter of public expense is a thing of such vital and universal concern that all public officials, who are elected by the people, must think of that first in every case. And sometimes the looming of this giant shadow in the foreground warps the perspective, temporarily. This matter of "public expense," as generally viewed by the public, is excuse for a conversion that took place between Judge Gordon and Sheriff Jennings relative to holding the execution in the court room. But the story was sent out broadcast that Judge Gordon had ordered the hanging to take place in the circuit court room.

And then it was found out "who's afraid?" The face of the clock in the tower turned pale and the teeth of every eye in the building chattered and chattered fast—except down in the sheriff's office, where everybody's brave. Deputy Sheriff Grady said to the sheriff yesterday that Sheriff Jennings was making arrangements to erect the necessary enclosure and the scaffold on a lot somewhere near the jail, and that the hanging would not take place in either the circuit court room or the City Hall building.

The popular revolution at Madisonville against a hanging occurring in any public building, it is learned from numerous sources, has developed the fact that very many of Madisonville's best citizens would much prefer that no hanging occur. They look upon the ignorance of the criminal and the prosecution of the crime and the execution of the crime to an extent that the popular mind now seems, at the county seat, to oppose largely a legal killing.

The date for the hanging is fixed upon Friday March 16th. The Sheriff has the specifications for the gallows and has his plans laid to complete his part of the arrangement in good time before the hour of execution. The public has no knowledge of any movement for respite or stay of sentence and all the probabilities are that unless death intervenes Thompson will hang on the day now fixed for his execution.

ANOTHER CONFESSION.

Substantiates the Orchard Confession in Steinberg Murder Case.

Boise, Ida., March 3.—The Statesman says:

"We are authorized to announce that Steve Adams, arrested at Haines, Ore., on February 20, in connection with the Steinberg assassination, has made a full and sweeping confession. This second confession is far more important than that made by Harry Orchard. This statement was made by James McPeckard, the detective, last evening in the presence of Gov. Gooding and J. H. Hawley, who is in charge of the prosecution."

"Moreover, McPeckard confessed, Adams knows far more of the workings of the inner circle than Orchard did, and was able to give a mass of detailed information that Orchard did not cover. The confession of Adams, he said, corroborated that given by Orchard in every substantial point connected with the assassination of Gov. Steinberg. Adams, however, was not at Caldwell at the time of the jury in any case, and this is the more remarkable considering the large number of cases tried."

Homes Wanted for Kentucky Boys and Girls.

The Kentucky Home Society has sixty boys and girls between the ages of three and nine for whom they desire good Christian homes. These children are unusually bright and attractive and we guarantee that no family will be disappointed in a child we send them.

The winter months have given us an abundance of work to do. We are receiving more children now in a month than we formerly did in a year and as a result, the children are much brighter and much better controlled than children we formerly handled.

Will you not show your interest in this great work for humanity by giving a home to one of these little ones? Unless you have a first class home in every respect and unless you are moral and stand well in your community, do not apply, as we would under no circumstances place a child in a home unless it can get the very best advantages. This is the Master's work, inasmuch as he said "Suffer little children to come unto me, and I will receive them." If you are interested in this charity, and would like to take a child, please address the Kentucky Children's Home Society, No. 2118 Via Bonnie Avenue, Louisville.

Yours very respectfully,
GEORGE L. SENIOR,
State Sup't.

Robert Hale Seriously Ill.

Mr. Ben Hale received a message from Princeton, Ind., Sunday, that his son Robert was seriously ill at that place and that the attending physician thought there was no hope for his recovery. His mother left at once for Princeton and has since written that he is slightly improved. He is suffering from typhoid fever.

W. C. Morton, of Madisonville, a member of the committee appointed by the council, has gone to St. Louis to investigate the feasibility, practicability and cost of installing an electric light plant in Madisonville. He is expected home in a few days and will make a full report upon his return.

CIRCUIT COURT ADJOURNS.

Circuit Judge Gordon Left for Princeton Monday—Will Return in May

FOR A FOUR WEEKS' TERM.

Judge Gordon of the Circuit Court, at Madisonville Monday heard arguments in and over-ruled motions for new trials in the following cases: Harry Brown vs. the L. & N. R. R.; Daniel Porter vs. L. Bailey, Louis Bark vs. Nortonville Coal Co., Cleveland Sisk vs. Daniel Boone Coal Co., Lillian A. Trendle vs. Buffalo Creek Coal Co., and Z. H. Hogue vs. Buffalo Creek Coal Co.

Bills of exceptions were then filed in each of these cases and appeals to the Court of Appeals will be taken as soon as Mr. Gaslin can make transcripts of the records. Quite a number of judgments and decrees were rendered in cases pending on the equity docket and commissioner's reports filed and deeds made. Various accounts against the Commonwealth were allowed of officers for services under felonious prosecutions.

A large number of divorces were granted at this term of court to dissatisfied husbands and wives. For the first time in many years there was no disagreement of the jury in any case, and this is the more remarkable considering the large number of cases tried.

The docket has been cleared of a great many cases of outstanding and it is probable that the business of the court will be in much better shape at the next term.

The trustee of the jury fund filed reports of costs and court-aided settlements with the jurors and after the usual formalities Court was adjourned, Judge Gordon going to Princeton for a two week's term in Caldwell county.

RAILROAD WORK TO BEGIN SOON

Line from Central City to Earles. Grading Promised this Month.

Col. W. L. Gordon, while here Tuesday, said that the Midland railroad, from Central City to Earles, would begin grading within the next few days. His information, he stated, was that the rails would be received at Central City in a very short while and that they would be laid as soon as grading got well under way. The energy of the contractors will be first directed to tunnelling a hill some seven miles out of Central City, which is perhaps the most difficult part of the work. Col. Gordon thinks the road will be built without delay and later extended to Madisonville.

The other proposition to construct a railroad from Dawson Springs to Madisonville seems to be in a quiet state just now, but there are those who believe this line will also be constructed at some future time.

And then the knowing ones say, "if we get all this additional territory opened up and developed, where will we send the coal?" The answer made by gentlemen was, "maybe somewhere we'll send it through the Panama Canal, but to what point beyond that we don't know." The question of probable markets enters into all serious discussion of these things.

Mrs. Woodruff Dead.

Mrs. Annie Woodruff, wife of William Woodruff a prominent citizen of St. Charles, died at her home Saturday evening after a long illness of a complication of diseases. Mrs. Woodruff was a daughter of J. M. Nibbel, of Madisonville, and was beloved by many friends for her good qualities. The funeral services will be held Monday and interment at Grapewine cemetery.

Shoes for fat women are now being made to lace up on the inside ankle instead of the instep.

OVERLAND MARCH FOR STATE MILITIA.

Kentucky Soldiers Will Take Part in Maneuvers in Indiana this Summer.

South Bend, Ind., March 5.—Semi-official information has reached South Bend that the officers of the Indiana National Guard that orders will be issued in a few days by the War Department to prepare for mobilization of Federal troops and National Guardsmen during the coming summer. Camp will be established at Fort Benjamin Harrison, two miles northeast of Lawrence, this State. The camp will represent the Department of the Lake, with Brig. Gen. Funston in command. The Department includes Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky. The National Guardsmen of these States will be the regulars of the Department at camp.

The tentative plan is that the National Guard of the States shall come and go, that is one State will have its militia with regular troops or the war and then the militia of another State will come in for a like stay. The regulars at all posts and barracks within the geographical limits of the Department of the Lakes will be assembled at Indianapolis. It is proposed to bring them into camp about the middle of May or the first of June and keep them there three months. Every company of regulars within the limit of the Department will be marched to Fort Benjamin Harrison, and it is also proposed that the National Guards of the States within the Department shall come overland to the great camp.

Bailey and Mrs. James Waltrip, all of Madisonville.

Label on Heave.

Chicago has given to the world the spectacle of a funeral bearing the union label on the hearse and mourning coaches. Now that our exit from this world has been properly arranged for, it seems to me that a union of doctors, bound by the same oath to help into this vale of tears and walking delegates any child that did not display a union label on a conspicuous part of its anatomy, would be in order. MADE FROM NATIVE ROOTS.
SAFE AND RELIABLE.

That the roots of many native plants, growing wild in our American forests, possess remarkable properties for the cure of human maladies is well known. Even the untutored Indian had learned the curative value of some of these and taught the early settlers their uses. The Indian never liked work so he wanted his squaw to get well as soon as possible that he might do the work and let him finish. Therefore, he dug "sapsure root" for her. This was their "Favorite Prescription" for female weakness. Mr. Pierce uses the same root—called his "Cobosh—in his "Favorite Prescription," skillfully combined with other agents that make it more effective than any other medicine in curing all the various weaknesses and ailments of women. Many afflicted women have been saved from the operating table by the timely use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Tenderly, gently, and without pain, it cures all the various ailments, such as, white discharge, pelvic disease, faintness, nervousness, and all the various ailments of women. It is a powerful purgative, but it is so gentle that it does not produce any of the usual effects of a purgative. DIED TRYING TO SAVE DOGS

William Christ, After Saving His Family, Tried to Save His Dogs, and Died With Them.

St. Louis, March 7.—A report by long distance telephone from Ironton, Mo., says that William Christ, after saving his wife and children from a fire which was destroying his place of business, early Tuesday morning, returned to the building in an effort to save two dogs and died with them. His charred body was found in the ruins.

The fire, which was discovered at 1 a. m., for a time threatened to sweep the business district of Ironton, which is a mile south of St. Louis.

Four buildings were destroyed, and only by the hardest work on the part of the volunteer firemen and a bucket brigade were the flames kept from spreading to the Commercial hotel, recently opened, and to the Register office across the street.

It was not until after a stubborn fight, lasting three hours, that the further spread of the flames was averted.

The loss was over $10,000 and $1,000 insurance.

Christ went to Ironton from St. Louis a year ago and went into the bakery business. He was 37 years old.

ANNUAL INSPECTION.

Company G. Will be Inspected Again Next Month.

NO PUBLICATION YET OF LAST YEAR'S STANDING.

Capt. Paul P. Price is in receipt of "general orders" announcing the coming annual inspection of Company G., which is to take place at some time between the 8th and 27th of April. Names of inspecting officers are not given the "orders," simply saying that the Inspector General, who is Col. Noel Gaines, and an officer of the United States army, will make the inspection.

In answer to the question whether he had ever received "general orders" making public the fact that Co. G carried off the highest honors at the 1905 inspection and entitling this company to the "award of colors," Capt. Price said he had not received such notice. As published in THE BEE at the time, Col. Noel Gaines said in January that it was the usual custom for such announcement to be made in "general orders," but that Adjutant General Huley, he supposed, had been too busy to attend to this detail. Company G is said to be in excellent condition, but would be greater encouragement for continued effort if the boys could see a public, official acknowledgment of their past excellent work.

A WORD WITH ADVERTISERS

There is none in this progressive age who doubts the absolute necessity of reading the newspapers, especially the advertisements. An exchange gives the following proofs in two cases, says the Austin News-Tribune. "A gentleman once said to a printer: 'I never took a paper that didn't pay me more than I paid for it. One time an old friend of mine started a paper 'way down South and sent a copy to me and I subscribed just to encourage him and, after a while it published a notice of an order to sell a lot at public auction. So I inquired about the lot and told a friend run it up to $50. He bid off the lot for $48 and sold it in less than a month for $100, so I made $52 clear by taking that paper. My father told me that when he was a young man he saw a notice in the paper that a school teacher was wanted away off in a distant county and he went and got the situation, and a little girl was sent to him, and after a while she grew up sweet and beautiful and he married her. Now, if he had not taken that paper, what do you suppose would have been become of me? I would have been some other fellow, or may be I would not have been at all.'"

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL OF A. F. OF L. IN WASHINGTON.

Miners' International Executive Board to Meet at Indianapolis, March 14.

Washington, March 7.—President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor has called a meeting of the executive council here March 19. The matters to be discussed have not been disclosed, but the fact that President Mitchell of the mine workers, who is a member of the council, will be present, lends color to the belief that the coal situation will be considered.

GOV. HOGG OF TEXAS DEAD

Prominent Democrat and Official of the Lone Star State Passes Away.

Houston, Tex., March 8.—Former Gov. James S. Hogg died here at 11:30 a. m. Saturday. He had been ailing for a long time. Gov. Hogg became the state's chief executive after filling the offices of county attorney and attorney-general. He was one of the most prominent democrats in the country, but had health forced him to practically retire from politics a few years ago.

Houston, Tex., March 6.—The remains of former Gov. Hogg were interred here Monday, after lying in state at the capitol. In accordance with a request of the ex-governor, a walnut tree and a pine tree, one at the head and one at the foot of the grave, will be the only monument.

LOUISIANA WINS THE CASE

Awarded the Peninsula of St. Bernard and Great Bayou de la Poudre, and Mississippi Looses.

Washington, March 7.—The supreme court of the United States has decided the case of Louisiana vs. Mississippi, involving the water boundary line between the two states, in favor of Louisiana. The dispute involved the peninsula of St. Bernard, and the opinion held that the peninsula and adjacent islands are a part of the territory of Louisiana. In its pleading, Louisiana claimed the disputed territory covers 3,000,000 acres of oyster beds.

MOURNED FOR HENDERSON

Bells in Every Church in Dubuque Told of the Death of a Heroic Citizen Who Was Buried.

Dubuque, Ia., March 1.—The funeral of former Speaker David B. Henderson was held here Thursday afternoon. Business was suspended during the hours of the funeral, and for five minutes following the commencement of services the bells in every church in Dubuque tolled. Otherwise silence reigned, not a wheel turning in the city during that period.

HANGING AT SHREVEPORT

Charles Coleman, Negro Who Murdered School-Child, Lawfully Executed.

Shreveport, La., March 2.—Guarded by two companies of militia, Charles Coleman, the negro who murdered Margaret Lear, a school girl, last week, was privately hanged at 12:37 p. m. Thursday. A large crowd surrounded the gall, but there was no hostile demonstration.

MINING NOTES.

Joseph Gough, of this place, went to Nortonville Sunday on business.

Robt. Longstaff, of Madisonville, is in Nortonville Sunday.

Ohio O'Bryant, of Mortons Gap, went to Nortonville Sunday on business.

Henry Magenheim, of Graham, visited relatives here this week. He spent several weeks with friends in Tennessee before coming to this city.

Barbourville, Ky., March 4.—One of the largest of recent deals in Kentucky and Tennessee mineral land was the purchase a few days ago of 16,000 acres of land in Cumberland county, Tenn., by New York capitalists. The purchase price was not given out, but it is understood to have been several thousand dollars. The new owners are arranging for gigantic developments. Orders for mining machinery costing half a million dollars will be placed soon. Several seams of workable coal exist on the property.

C. B. Shutes, who has been employed at Daniel Boone mines as hauling engineer for some time, has resigned and accepted a similar position with the Brasher Coal Co.

The Providence train made an extra trip to this place Sunday with shipments from the coal mines on that part of the division.

Reuben Miles, of No. 11 mine, has been on the sick list this week.

Mr. Hill, manager of the St. Bernard Mining Company's store at Barnsley, was here on business Tuesday.

Lawson Miles was off several days this week on account of illness.

It is authoritatively stated that the plans of the Seaboard Air Line for its new trunk line to the South includes the purchase of 500,000 acres of coal lands and their development in connection with the railroad project.

A gentleman interested in the operation of the Fox Run mine of the St. Bernard group, at St. Charles, says that the miners there had good work in February. He said that one machine runner, Henry Goodsey, cut 69 rooms and earned for himself $82.80, and for his hostler, Jim Wing, $51.75. Other machine runners making exceptionally good records were W. K. Driver, 63 rooms; Dink Shad Owen, 62 rooms; Wm. Peters, 60 rooms. He said the average cutting for 22 machinemens engaged at the mine exceeded 50 rooms, and that this certainly spoke well for the industry and the interest of the men.

Thos. Farquhar, of the No. 9 shop force, is convalescent after an attack of lagrippe.

Ermit Wyatt is off duty this week with an affliction of his eyes.

The government's coal-testing station at Forest Park, St. Louis, Mo., was destroyed by fire last week. It was in charge of Dr. J. A. Holmes, of the United States Geological Survey, and was operated throughout the World's Fair. Since then the plant has continued making tests, money being appropriated by Congress for that purpose which would have enabled the work to continue this year. The coal-testing plant was located near the Mines and Metallurgy building, half-way up the hill leading to the Kentucky building. This was the largest experimental station of its kind in the world and all coal-producing states sent samples as their to be tested during its operation.

Clay and Breckinridge for Statuary Hall.
The Washington Star, in an editorial on Kentucky in Statuary Hall, says:

"Mr. Waterson suggests Henry Clay and John C. Breckinridge, and there is much to support the selection. Gen. Breckinridge was a man of great force himself, and represented, moreover, a family of the highest distinction in the State. The Breckinridges were among the first-comers, helped to shape things, held the most important offices, and stamped their character and abilities on the new institutions. This action of the stock made rapid progress in public life, and after Mr. Clay's death was probably the most influential man in the State. He was greatly admired by the young men, and led a large number of them into the Confederate army."

"One could wish to see Gen. Breckinridge accompany Mr. Clay here for the additional reason that in the hands of a competent sculptor he should make up admirably and impressively in marble. He was one of the handsomest men of his day, and, whether afoot or on horseback, carried himself superbly. His figure in Statuary Hall would be easily among the most striking displayed there."

Constitution Ignored.

LOCOMOTIVE BLASTS

Takes Our Locomotives.

According to the New York Sun, an American locomotive works has in process 100 locomotives for Japan, which were intended to be built in Great Britain. Specifications were drawn for British engines. Two American firms were allowed to estimate, in the hope that they would not care to submit prices for only twenty out of the 100 required. The Americans were anxious to get into Japan and decided to incur large expenditure for special patterns, so they put in a figure for twenty machines and a lower figure for 100. The British makers were higher, but they had a "pull," and they worked it. It was decided that an order should go to England for eighty machines and to the United States for twenty. Then the Japanese decided that the 100 locomotives must be in hand within a fixed time. The Americans agreed to put the 100 locomotives into Japan two months earlier than the time stipulation. The British makers wanted eight months longer than the time fixed by the Japanese. As a result the whole order came to America. The same Japanese road, after trying to get some steel cars made in Wales within a certain period, found it impossible, and the order will go to Pennsylvania.

All forms of transportation except the regular two-cent rate provided by law, will be cut off by the railroads in Ohio. This decision has been reached at a conference of passenger representatives of all railroads with lines in that State. It was agreed that by eliminating everything except two-cent fares the roads could in a measure, recompense themselves for the loss caused by the new rate law. The action contemplated will deprive Ohioans of all reduced transportation for conventions, of the 1,000 mile books; of all charity business and of all round trip rates and clergymen's rates. Copyist Chas. Blackburn visited friends at Nortonville Sunday.

Cale Y. Clark, of Barnely, has accepted a position with Foreman O'Brien at the round house.

We are glad to number Conductor Ernest Eastwood, of Howell, among our subscribers. All the railroad boys like The Bee.

INDIGESTION'S RECORD

The best remedy I can prescribe for my indigestion, maddam, is Green's August Flower. I have of several other physicians who prescribe it regularly.

Indigestion is making an awful record as a cause of sudden death. It is beating heart-failure in its ghastly harvest. You read in the papers daily of apparently healthy and even robust men being suddenly attacked with acute indigestion after enjoying a hearty meal, and of their dying in many cases before a physician could be called in.

This should be a warning to you who suffer with regular, periodic attacks of indigestion. If these unfortunate victims of acute indigestion had taken a small dose of Green's August Flower before or after their meals they would not have fallen a prey to such sudden seizures.

August Flower prevents indigestion by creating good digestion. It also regulates the liver, purifies the blood and tones up the entire system in a natural way.

Two sizes, 50c and 75c. All druggists.

London motor bus drivers who avoid accidents for a week receive a bonus. They are fined for accidents.

Indigestion is much of a habit. Don't get the habit. Take a little Kodol Dyspepsia Cure after eating and you will quit belching, puffing, belching and taking a dose after every meal.

Digest what you eat and make the stomach sweet.

I am glad to say that I have never had a return of any of those symptoms during the four years which have elapsed and I am decidedly cured of my cure, and I heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Cure to any one suffering from kidney or bladder trouble."

Every Two Minutes

Physicians tell us that all the blood in a healthy human body passes through the heart once in every two minutes. If this action becomes irregular the whole body suffers. Poor health follows poor blood; Scott's Emulsion makes the blood pure. One reason why is such a great aid is because it passes so quickly into the blood. It is partly digested before it enters the stomach; a double advantage in this. Less work for the stomach; quicker and more direct benefits. To get the greatest amount of good with the least possible effort is the desire of everyone in poor health. Scott's Emulsion does just that. A change for the better takes place even before you expect it.

We warrant you a sample free. If you like this picture in the form of a label on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

CHRONICLES.

1. Now it came to pass, during the reign of Rehoboam, that there over in the city of Earlington an Israelite whose surname was Toombs.

And it came to pass that in the first of the year 1905 that the King said unto the Israelite: Take fire of your brethren and go into the wilderness, and build me a great building, and the name of the building shall be called Toombs.

3. And it came to pass on the morning as the first streak of dawn appeared in the east that the Israelite and his five brethren started for the wilderness.

Now it came to pass as they journeyed they talked among themselves, saying: Where shall we sleep and where shall we eat?

6. And as they journeyed they fell in company with a prophet who was from Earlington and who the prophet said why are ye and the Israelite said unto him, The King has sent us into the wilderness, and we have not where to lay our heads.

8. And it came to pass that when the Israelite and his five brethren came to the place which the prophet said unto the Israelite, my brethren shall stay with me.

9. Now it came to pass that when the Israelite and his brethren had made up their minds to stay there, he was made and said unto the Israelite, I will go back to my father, even unto Earlington, and there will I stay.

8. Then was the Israelite troubled and said, Where now shall we stay?

9. And as he thus reasoned within himself, he came to a place where a good shepherd, who had charge of the King's sheep, and whose surname was Blanks, said unto the Israelite: Come with me, and we will go to the desert of St. Charles, and there you will find food to eat and plenty of strong coffee to drink.

10. And it came to pass that after he had been in the desert for some time, he came to a place where the King said unto him, Arise, and take thy brethren, and go back into the wilderness, and there will I stay.

11. Then was the Israelite glad, and he said unto his brethren, let us go and build the house of the Lord, and there will we stay.

12. It remained in the wilderness forty days and forty nights.

One would think the Laxative in a cough syrup should have been advanced long before it was. Hard . Work . and . Correct . Business . Methods.

That "workers grow" is exemplified in the wonderful stock and almost phenomenal growth of this great store. Every month forges ahead of the same month of the preceding year. And this has been going on for years, until today our business stands as a "monument," pointing out to others what can be accomplished by

But we are not satisfied. We feel there are still greater things possible. As our business grows in value we will be able to cut down our percentage of profit, and our strong desire is to do the "greatest amount of business" on the smallest margin of profit of any store in Hopkins county. With this end in view we have moved our prices down to the lowest possible point. Come and visit the "Big Busy Store" and let us show you what we have. We are out for business this year and we expect to get our share.

MISSISSIPPI TORNADO DESTROYS AND KILLS

TWENTY-FOUR DEAD, 40 INJURED AND PROPERTY VALUED AT $1,500,000 DESTROYED.

Tornado Struck City Without Warning, Fire Following and adding to Horror of the Situation—Misses and Citizens Combined to Fight the Flames and Rescue Unfortunates From the Ruins—Nurses Quicker Than Lightning.

Meridian, Miss., is a beautifully laid out city, built along modern public utilities. It is near the eastern boundary of the state, only about fifteen miles from the Alabama line, and is reached by five lines of railway. The chief industries of the city are machinery and woodworking, with one large cotton mill, while its commerce is largely predicated upon cotton, fruit and vegetables, the surrounding country being most fertile, but peopled by a sturdy class that is strongly wedded to the south's growing white staple. Because of its excellent distributive facilities, it is the center of a broad trade territory, and numbers among its mercantile establishments some of the largest jobbing concerns in the south, especially dry goods and groceries.

Meridian, Miss., March 5.—A tornado struck this city Friday evening about 9 o'clock, coming from the southwest, killing 24 people, injuring 46 and wrecking property valued at $1,500,000. Fire followed, and a number of people were incinerated. The lighting plant was destroyed, and the city was in darkness, save for the glare of the flames. Those burned to death were almost all negroes, the tornado being severe in the section inhabited by them. Placemilla company was called out, and they and citizens did noble work. Gov. Vardaman arrived to-day. Neighboring towns and cities offered assistance, which was accepted. Gov. Vardaman issued an appeal to Missisippians for aid. All contributions should be sent to Col. H. M. Street, chairman of relief committee, Meridian, Miss.

A Day of Funerals. Meridian, Miss., March 6.—Before an army of determined men attacking Meridian's storm-swept and debris strewn streets, the vast amount of wreckage is being slowly but surely. The bodies of the dead are being removed. It was a day of of Meridian had never protected themselves with storm or cyclone insurance, so insurance agents will have little or no auditing beyond the first losses. A million and a quarter dollars is now thought to be a conservative estimate of the damage wrought.

The storm performed its worst work on Front street and in the Georgetown and Fowell Survey suburbs. On Front street the principal wholesale houses were located. The Georgetown community is inhabited chiefly by cotton factory employees, while the Fowell survey is the residence district for employees of the railroad shops.

Fifteen buildings on Front street are wrecked. The fertilizer factory, electric light plant and cotton mills are in ruins, while 500 residences in the path of the storm were either unroofed or totally destroyed.

Passing from southwest to northeast, after striking the Queen & Crescent freight depot and utterly demolishing that structure, the cloud diverted its course somewhat and passed along Front street, its outer edge also touching Front street, where quite a number of buildings were greatly damaged.

The United States Agricultural Department has issued (and circulates free) a valuable report giving the results of elaborate experiments made by and under the direction of the Department, which show the great saving from baking at home, as compared with cost of buying at the bakers. All bread, cake, biscuit, crullers, etc., are very much fresher, cleaner, cheaper and more wholesome when made at home with Royal Baking Powder.

Around the Farm

Feed Fat Dry Cows.

There is no doubt that different kinds of food might make some difference in the number of feeders required in a day for the best preservation of the cow's health and the greatest production of milk she is capable of affording, writes J. W. Ingham in American Cultivator. It is well known that some foods are digested more quickly than others and possess less nutritive qualities and therefore should be fed often for the comfort of the cow and the most profit of the dairyman.

Some cows have stronger digestive powers than others, and consequently their stomachs have done their work and are ready to receive another meal sooner. Green, tender grass, roots, pumpkins and apples will be digested sooner than hay, corn fodder and grain. A cow of vigorous digestion, fed on food that is easily digested and not overstrong in nourishment, might get hungry often and do better on three meals a day, but the generality of cows fed on dry feed, hay, cornstalks, silage, cornmeal and bran are, according to my experience, less dainty and particular about their food eat with a greater relish and do better in the long run with but two feeds per day.

Success for Hogs.

No animal was ever intended to subsist alone on dry, concentrated foods, writes an Illinois farmer in American Agriculturist. What the hog needs along with concentrated food is an occasional succulent ration with the opportunity to provide him with clover, rape, beets, artichoke, silage, etc. There is no reason why he should be abandoned to the conditions which invite disease and death.

There is not a month of the year when an occasional succulent ration would not be provided for the hog. This with pure water would enable him to resist and throw off the germs and disease always prevalent and sufficiently frequent to kill when subjected to conditions inviting death.

Feeding Cattle.

For cattle lead the list of feeding stuffs, but shorts and bran and barley peas and some corn may be profitably used where economy is important. Steamed cracked oats or barley thickened with bran will prove very nourishing or appetizing where cattle are suffering from teething. A limited quantity of cooked roots mixed with ground grain and bran, given at night in winter time, daily or two or three times a week, will show in a more thrifty general appearance.

Salt as Asparagus.

Increased yields of asparagus are secured at the Arkansas experiment station by applying common salt at the rate 1,000 pounds to the acre. Salted asparagus produce 18 per cent more than the unsalted. Salt was applied the preceding summer and the following season salt was again put on at the rate of two pounds per square yard, applications at intervals of twenty days.

Location of the Stable.

The dairyman who has his stable located on an elevation where the secure good drainage has no outlet line to be thankful for. Those who have not good drainage should immediately improvise some method for keeping their stables dry under the floors. The product of the cows as well as their health makes this imperative.

Measuring Land.

A handy tool for measuring land is made from an old buggy wheel fitted to a light frame. Measure the tire and mark a point in the rim so that the revolutions of the wheel can be counted. Walk around the piece of land with the wheel and multiply the number of revolutions by the measure of the tire.

Frost and the Soil.

Frosts, especially early spring frosts, are great pulverizers of refractory soils, heating any soil yet invented for this purpose. Soil thus comminuted and pulverized liberates plant food, and this explains why fall plowing of the land will in most cases produce better crops than land plowed in the spring.

Worms in Turkeys.

Feed turkeys affected with worms a meal of dried male redworms mixed with sour milk and a quantity of crushed garlic bulb. Give this as first feed in the morning or after they have fasted over one or two meals.

Removing Stumps.

A correspondent of American Cultivator states that he removed a troublesome tree stump from near his house in the following manner: With an inch-auger he bored a hole in the center of the stump ten inches deep and put into it about one-half pound of oil of vitriol and corked the whole stump and roots, extending through all their ramifications, were so rotted that they were easily eradicated.

Keep Fertility in the Land.

Good farming today is intensive farming. Raise all it is possible to raise, but put back into the soil every year as the crop takes out, or more. New land will stand a lot of abuse, but it will go back on you in time. You can depend on that. Farm every year so that you leave your land in better shape at the close than at the beginning of the year.—Kinball's Dairy Farmer.

Improving the Wood Lot.

If a little care and forethought are taken when cutting the year's supply of fuel to chip out in the thicker places, saving the young and thrifty trees, letting in the sunshine occasionally to start a vigorous growth and perhaps trimming the trunks to get smoother growth, it will be surprising to see how much the stump value is increased.—American Cultivator.

Peas for Lambs.

Three years ago," says R. W. Hersey of Colorado, "an old Scotchman living in the San Luis valley, in our State, concluded he would experiment with peas as a food for a few lambs that he owned.

The peas did prove to be the thing. The lambs not only took on fat with surprising rapidity, but their flesh acquired a new and delicious flavor. The next year everybody in that region began to follow his example, and last year in the San Luis valley it is estimated that no less than 500,000 sheep grew fat on peas."

Eat Spinach.

Eat plenty of spinach. It acts as a tonic and beautifier. Good soap, soft water, plenty of fruit, early hours and a daily walk in all weather. Bathe the face every night with equal parts of warm milk and water. It keeps the skin fair and smooth. When washing the hair is necessary, harmless shampooes should be chosen. The simplest can always be made is to melt a cake of castile soap in a quart of warm water. Put it into a wide-mouthed jar and use about two tablespoonsful at a time. Massage well into the scalp.

To Clean Straw Mattings.

To clean straw matting that is very much soiled, use two quarts of water into which ten cent worth of caustic soda (sodium) has been dissolved. This will remove both dirt and stains if applied with a scrubbing brush. Wash carefully afterward, and your matting will look as good as new.

Lucy Henscapes.

When the brooding hen refuses to polarly return to her coop at night, but squats outside, you can be pretty sure that the coop is either fearfully lousy, filthy or close perhaps all three. Investigate.

Feeding the Pigs.

Clean out the hog troughs every day if necessary. Troughs half full of litter do not make very desirable places for the pigs to eat out of.

Ox bones have a considerable value. The four feet of an ordinary ox will make a pint of neat-foot oil. The tallow bone is the most valuable, being useful for cutting into toothbrush handles. The foreleg bones are made into buttons and parasol handles. The water in which the bone is boiled is reduced to glue.
